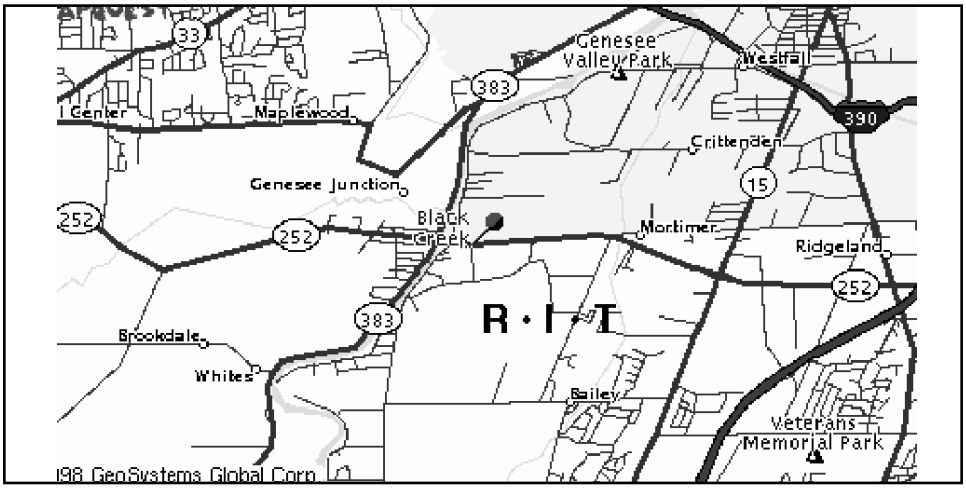
Direction to RIT

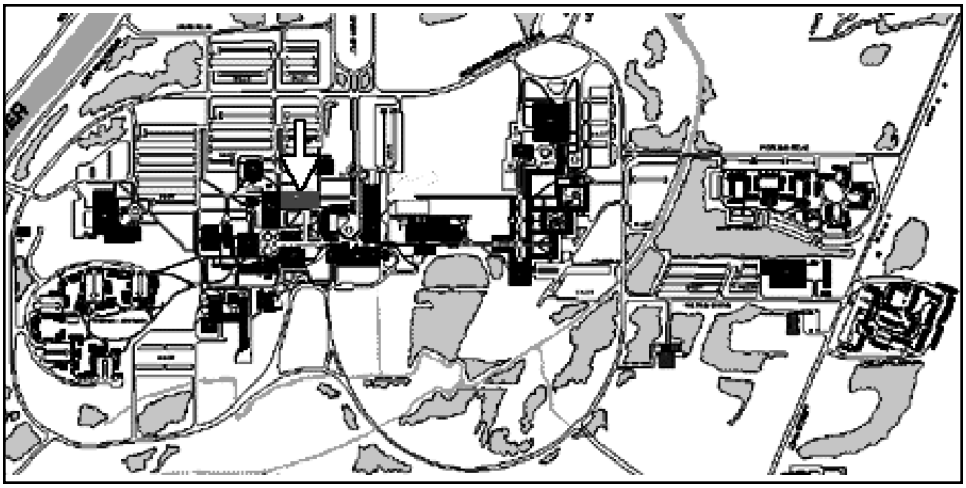
If this is your first time to RIT to visit the School of Printing, this map is prepared for you. Whether you come by airplane or by car, the maps and the directions will show you how to find the RIT campus, and the Gannett Building. Have a good trip!

Professor Robert Chung
School of Printing Management and Sciences
Office: Gannett Building, room 1171
tel. (585) 475-2722
Internet: rycppr@rit.edu
CMS Lab: Gannett Building, room 1297

This is the map of the Monroe County. The airport is to the south-west of the City of Rochester. The RIT campus and the Thruway 90 are to the south of the city.



This is the map of RIT and its immediate surrounding. RIT is roughly located at the interaction of Route 383 (Scottsville Road) and 252 (Jefferson Road). And it's in the Town of Henrietta. The entrance to RIT is on the Jeferson Road.



This is the map of RIT campus. Jefferson Road is located at the top edge of the map.

The building where the pointer is pointing at is the Gannet Building where the School of Printing is. If you see a lobby with many national flags hanging, you're only a few steps from Bob's office.